ABSTRACT

This document lists the sacred texts of many world religions, in a variety of languages, translations, and versions, that are available in special media. The information provided for the materials includes source, medium, availability, and title. Priority was given to citing complete works; portions are listed only if they are unique in availability, narration, or medium. In Section I, scriptures in English are grouped by religion or denomination. The scriptures include the following religions: Buddhist, Christian Science, Hindu, Jewish, Mormon, Protestant, and Roman Catholic. Section II covers scriptures in foreign languages: Arabic, Chinese, French, German Greek, Hebrew, Hindi, Italian, Korean, Norwegian, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Tagalog, Telegu, and Urdu. Section III includes hymnals, prayerbooks, and liturgies in the Jewish, Mormon, Protestant, and Roman Catholic religions. Section IV lists commentaries and concordances. The full names and addresses of the sources are found in section V. There is a table of abbreviations and symbols used, as well as a listing of the versions and books of the Bible. Section VI is an addendum to Bibles, other scriptures, liturgies, and hymnals not listed in the 1988 edition. A list of other reference circulars and bibliographies available from the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped is included. (JLB)

Introduction

The Bibles and other scriptures listed in this reference circular represent the sacred texts of many world religions, in a variety of languages, translations, and versions. Commentaries, concordances, liturgies, prayerbooks, and hymnals are also included in this publication. The information in this circular is taken from descriptive brochures provided by the distributors and producers of the items cited. As additional titles in special media are identified, they will be included in future editions of this publication.

In preparing this listing, priority was given to citing complete works. Portions of works are listed only if they are unique in availability, narration, or medium. A particular version of the Bible may be available in more than one medium or from more than one supplier.

Braille is grade 2, cassette tapes are standard 1-7/8 ips, and discs are 33-1/3 rpm, unless otherwise noted. Point size of large print is stated, if known. Some price variations among like items are due to differences in binding. Prices are subject to frequent change and should be verified with suppliers before ordering. Additional details about any of the items listed should be obtained directly from the suppliers.

In Section I, scriptures are grouped by religion or denomination. Within religious groupings, the scriptures are listed by version. Three-letter codes are used for sources. Full names and addresses of the sources are listed in Section V. This edition reprints sections I-IV of the 1988 edition of Bibles, Other Scriptures, Liturgies, and Hymnals in Special Media. Section V, Producers and Distributors has been updated. Section VI is an addendum listing resources not given in the 1988 edition.

The National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (NLS), Library of Congress, provides scriptural writings and nondenominational books on religious subjects in braille and recorded media. This free library service is available to blind and physically handicapped residents of the United States through a network of regional and subregional libraries located in all parts of the country. Anchor	Multivolume commentary on the Bible, book by book.
Apocrypha	Certain books or portions not considered part of the Jewish canon, but included in the Septuagint (Greek) version of the OT as used by the early Christians. Most of these books are considered as deuterocanonical by the Roman Catholic Church. Apocryphal NT are extracanonical Christian writings that preserve memories of Jesus and the Apostles. They were written between the second and nineth centuries C.E.
Goodspeed	First English-language translation from original sources of the Apocrypha by Edgar J. Goodspeed in 1923.
James	1924 translation of the Apocryphal NT by Montague R. James.
Jerusalem	Jerusalem Bible. A Roman Catholic version.
King James	King James Version. Sometimes called Authorized Version. New King James version edited in 1962 uses modern terminology.
Living	Living Bible. A paraphrased version by Kenneth Taylor.
Luther	Lutheran version of the New Testament in the German language.
Nácar Fuster	Spanish language Bible translated by E. Nácar Fuster.
Nestle	Koine Greek text, narrated in modern Greek pronunciation by Erwin and Eberhand Nestle.
New American	New American Bible, a Roman Catholic version. Earlier version called Confraternity.
New American Standard	An evangelical Protestant Bible.

New English	A Protestant Bible sponsored by major churches and Bible societies in England. Based on Hebrew, Greek, and Aramaic sources. Includes the Apocrypha.
New International	New International Bible. An evangelical Protestant Bible sponsored by the New York Bible Society, International.
NT	New Testament
OT	Old Testament
Phillips	J.B. Phillips translation. A Protestant version, also called Modern English.
Pseudepigrapha	Writing outside the biblical canon.
Reina-Valera	Spanish language translation of the New Testament as revised in 1602.
Revised Standard	Protestant version by American scholars. Used as a study Bible.
Riveduta	Italian language translation.
Segond	French language translation of the New Testament as published in 1910.
